THE ODD-EVEN car rationing scheme will be rolled out in Delhi for five days from November 13 as part of a graded response plan to tackle the alarming level of pollution in the city, the state government announced on Thursday.

WITH A KILLER 'pea soup fog' blanketing the national capital for three continuous days, the Delhi High Court and the National Green Tribunal today issued a slew of directions, including implementing the odd-even scheme, to improve the air quality in the city.

Hours after the High Court suggestion to bring in the car rationing scheme as was done last year, the Delhi government decided to roll it out for five days starting November 13.

The High Court asked the government to consider the option of "cloud seeding" to induce rainfall artificially, as an immediate step to bring down the dust and particulate matter in the atmosphere. The court, however, did not agree with the quadrupling of the parking fees as was ordered by the Delhi Pollution Control Committee on the recommendations of the Environment Pollution Prevention and Control Authority.

Concerned with the deadly smog engulfing the city, the NGT banned construction and industrial activities in Delhi-NCR.
